today and every day, O Lord.

Rejoice and be glad, Alleluia!

Table Prayer for the Season of Easter

This is the day the Lord has made!

On this Day of days
we are filled with Easter joy and nourished by the fruits of earth.

On this Day of days
may we know the presence of Christ in breaking bread with those we love.

On this Day of days
let us show his presence to the poor and hungry
as our service to them is a sign of his glory.

This is the day the Lord has made!

Let all the earth cry out with joy
on this Day of days.

May this meal be blessed,
as we will be at the feast of heaven. Amen.

An

Easter Letter

from Saint Athanasius of Alexandria

My people,

Do you know the term "Arianism"? Perhaps not; it passed into memory a millennium and a half ago. This heresy claimed that the Son was created by—and was not one in being with—the Father. Therefore, Arians thought Jesus could not be fully divine.

I spent my life fighting this heresy, beginning as a young man at the Council of Nicaea. I was not always successful, and was exiled from the Church five times. More and more leaders of the Church and state accepted Arianism. During this time, I was even excommunicated for a while! Sometimes, I felt as if I stood alone against the world.

And yet in the end, Arianism—a misrepresentation of the very nature of God—faded away. God's truth cannot be overcome.

There are battles being waged in your time, too. The assault on the Body of Christ comes from outside, from those who see the Church as closed-minded or backward. It also comes from within the Body, with various sides seeking only victory and failing to show the merciful heart of God. There is division over questions of worship and authority, and how to deal with scandal. It likewise comes from those who believe that worldly status or affluence signal God's favor—a view that stands directly at odds with the teachings of Christ himself. It comes from professed believers who mistake uniformity for unity, and from those whose words and actions bespeak division, often alienating the very people most in need of the healing touch of Christ.

The Church in your day cries out for healing, just as it did in mine.

But take heart, my children. The Holy Spirit will guide the Church through this time, as in every other. Seek the Spirit's guidance with a sincere heart. In the Spirit, allow yourselves, individual members of the Body of Christ, to be remade in Christ's image. Christ is the Head of the Body, the Church, and thus will the entire Church be renewed.

Athanasius of Alexandria

A fourth-century Egyptian bishop known during his life as "Athanasius Contra Mundum" (Athanasius against the World), Athanasius was soon recognized as a "pillar of the Church" by Gregory of Nazianzus. He is a doctor of the Church and had great influence on the canon of books included in the Bible. In the west, his feast day is celebrated on May 2.

What impact do my Baptismal vows have on my everyday life?

This Easter season, spend some time each week pondering the questions below to discern how your ordinary world might better reflect the Baptismal promises you renewed on Easter Sunday.

Week One: Do you renounce Satan?

Where does Satan work on your life and your heart? Where does temptation meet you? Food? Social media? Anger? What can you do to break the cycle and reject Satan's hold?

Week Two: And all his works?

Satan's work is to divide. Where in your life is division rampant? What issues do you approach in an all-or-nothing way, leading to judgment and acrimony? What can you do to bridge division when you encounter it in daily life?

Week Three: And all his empty show?

Which of Satan's promises are hardest for you to resist? Comfort, power, admiration, prestige, luxury, self-righteousness? When do you find yourself unwilling to sacrifice those things in order to see God's kingdom of justice made real on earth? What stands in the way of truly rejecting these empty promises?

Week Four: Do you believe in God, the Father almighty, Creator of heaven and earth?

If God made all things, then we must treat the created world with reverence. List three ways you can treat God's creation with greater reverence and better stewardship.

Week Five: Do you believe in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord, who was born of the Virgin Mary, suffered death and was buried, rose again from the dead, and is seated at the right hand of the Father?

Because of Jesus' incarnation, death, and resurrection, everyone on earth is invited to the heavenly banquet. What does this mean for your interactions with those on the margins of your ordinary life: philosophical/political opponents, those of other cultures or religions? How can you better honor them as bearers of God's image?

Week Six: Do you believe in the Holy Spirit?

The Spirit moves every person in a unique way. Do you invite the Spirit to dwell in you, or are you afraid? Where in your life do you need the Spirit's guidance, discernment, or healing?

Week Seven: Do you believe in the holy Catholic Church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and life everlasting?

Belief manifests in action. What gifts can you offer to the Church? What prevents you from giving of your time? What can you do to change that?

CELEBRATING THE FEAST OF THE Ascension

In much of the United States, the feast of the Ascension has been permanently transferred to Sunday. Lacking the obligation, this feast often feels more “ordinary” than “holy day.” But it hasn’t always been that way. In fact, there are a number of interesting traditions associated with the feast of the Ascension:

- Horse races
- A picnic on a high place (a nod to the setting of the Ascension story)
- A meal with some sort of bird for a main dish, to represent Christ “flying” up to heaven
- “Beating the bounds,” in which parishioners walked around the church property marking the boundaries by writing on them in chalk or hitting them with sticks
- The Wedding with the Sea, a colorful festival in Venice celebrated to this day in conjunction with the Ascension

Many places also incorporated rituals held within the church. The blessing of the “first fruits,” in honor of Christ, the “firstfruits” of those who have died, ascending to heaven, was a common tradition. Because the Ascension falls in the late spring, when the year’s first crops begin to produce, many communities used the occasion to pray for blessings on the growing season.

Other rituals associated with this feast include:

- the blessing of a candle
- processions with torches and banners
- reenacting the Ascension by raising an image of Christ above the altar and through an opening on the roof

The cathedral at Florence celebrated a particularly colorful ritual. A dove slid down a string from the high altar, landing in a container of fireworks placed in front of the building’s main entrance, which then ignited.

Many of these special effects would seem trite in modern life, and as rural communities shrink, the rituals of the agricultural year might not resonate. But everyone can enjoy a picnic. If you can hike to a high place for it, so much the better. Honor the culinary tradition by packing cold fried chicken as a main dish. Another possibility is to use cookie cutters to make bird-shaped biscuits or cookies. Have grapes, to remember the Italian tradition, or whatever “firstfruits” are seasonal in your area: strawberries, broccoli, lettuce, and so on.
